Commodore's Report

Gene Freund -Commodore's Message

Keep in touch with your club in the off season: don't forget the January meeting on Sunday the 27th and vote in your new officers. Also, Vice Commodore (and Commodore Nominee) Jim Nealey should be ready to share and receive reactions to potential new logos for the club and burgee. We changed to CMA a few years ago, so it's a needed update.

Watch the www.chesapeakemulihulls.org website for topics, but please save the February 24 and March 30 dates.

I received an email last week that noted that the Baltimore Boat Show (www.BaltimoreBoatShow.com) will include sailboats this year. A quick look at the exhibitors' list confirmed that it's no Annapolis show, but might be a fun boat fix in the dead of winter.

Fair Winds,

Gene Freund

Philosophy from Sins of Betrayal by Valerie Wilcox

On the water everything is clear. It is a gift for the soul; a clarity born of sea and salt air that touches the small inner voice within us that has been too long silenced by the chaos of life. It is a gift that heals; that gives us power to rid ourselves of confusion, worry, guilt, and regret; that gives us faith in ourselves and our dreams. But if we refuse to heed the gift of clarity, if we deny the inner voice that tells us who we are, then we will wither and die before our time. For when we kill the dream within us, we kill ourselves.

We may be breathing, and the blood may be flowing through our veins, but it is not living. It is merely busy-ness disguised as living – from children who are shuttled from one organized activity to another without a single moment simply to be themselves, to play, or to let their imaginations run free, to adults who scurry from store to store, buying whatever their money or credit will allow in the false hope that material acquisitions will somehow deaden their pain. The pain may go away for a while, but it always returns. For nothing can satisfy a dream unfulfilled, a life un-lived.

On the water everything is clear. It gives us power to climb the wind and soar.

You want to be happy? Then find the wind, find where it's coming from and where it's going. For it is only when your boat has a bellyful of wind in her sails and her hull is ripping through the sea, and the salt spray is stinging your face, that you will know you're alive. You will know who you are and where you're going. You will know your dream.

On Saturday, December 8th 2007 the Glovers graciously invited us to their home again this year to celebrate the CMA Annual Christmas gathering.

CMA provided meats and beverages for the buffet and members brought their favorite appetizer, salad, vegetable or dessert to share. We all enjoyed wonderful food while reminiscing our past year's events and discussing CMA's and our individual plans for the coming year and beyond.

We had a good turn-out, and it was especially good to see some of our new members in attendance. Everyone had a good time; it was a great opportunity to touch base again, get to know each other better.

We did hold a brief business meeting where 2008 BOD Nominees were presented. Election will be at the January 27th meeting held at our usual winter-season gathering spot.
